The great Clever in action at The Hackney

Matthew "Clever" Kildea is an undefeated former player, premierships assistant coach and general know-it-all who seems to have an opinion on everything!

Clev's Corner

Not the best results on field for The Reds this weekend, with ROCs taking the points in A, B and C grades. The D's however took on an undermanned Edwardstown and punished them, with a 15 goal victory, Tyndall kicking another 6.

Congratulations to Will Hugo who pumped out his 150th game for the club. In a typical Hugo performance, Will once again had more tackles than possessions as he played his role to perfection. The a-grade controlled large portions of the game however were unable to collect the win for 'Wilson' as we ran out of legs following two game ending injuries in the first 8 minutes of play.

Best Wishes to Hamish Latchford and Ryan Tromans who both put their bodies on the line and unfortunately came off second best. Latchy looks likely to have 6-8 weeks on the sidelines with a broken cheek bone, but according to the umpire there was no high contact. While for Ryno, it looks like more bad luck. A knee injury in the 2014 GF saw him miss all of 2015, and this time it's a broken collar bone that sees him in a race with time to make it back for finals.

Bad news for those lads leads to opportunity for two others. Jake Wehl looks set to return to the ones after time in the B's due to exam clashes, and Olly Collison would have to be getting close to his A-grade debut as he continues to bash on the door. Third best against Port Districts, best on against Modbury, best on against Uni and then 2nd best again on the weekend, it's been a big month for our undersized workhorse.

Speaking of exams, I can't help but mention this WTF moment. Reportedly, a B-grade centre half forward who will remain nameless, took Saturday's game off as he had to get ready for an exam on Monday. Now I understand that I was fortunate enough not to have to study all that much going through school and uni, but what I never understood was why students would lock themselves away for days on end leading into exam period trying to cram as much information into their tiny little heads as they could. A quick google of 'the benefit of study breaks' returns thousands and thousands of results all explaining why a break is beneficial. No break leads to a lack of concentration, reduced learning and a decrease in academic performance, and in severe cases, leads to anxiety, insomnia and depression. So for the love of god, get out there and play 2 hours of footy!
